

Winter cheer

Bright and welcoming, Warmington fires make the cold months warmer

In an effective renovation, every new addition really counts. A contemporary, energy-efficient fire makes a sleek design feature and also responds to our primeval love of warmth, light and dancing flames.

Warmington fires create a strong feature and bring a sense of conviviality and comfort on bleak winter days, says marketing co-ordinator Deborah Grey.

“Our range of open fires, gas and wood burners, and outdoor fireplaces makes it easy to choose a model to suit your home.

“Warmington’s open wood fires utilise Caiotec technology for optimum efficiency and heat output. They are easily installed in new homes or existing fireplaces, making them ideal for home renovators.”

The gas fire range from Warmington uses a built-in downdraft diverter, both for safety and to maintain constant fresh air. Burners are available in LPG or natural gas. These fires are also easy to install.

The Warmington Nouveau outdoor range, offered in wood or gas, means you can enjoy your outdoor spaces year round.

Warmington fires offer increased efficiency and reduced heating costs. Warmington Industries operates a dealer network throughout New Zealand, including Fires by Design in Auckland.
